

Explore Oxfordshire Exhibition

What's on your doorstep?

23rd March marks the start of British Tourism Week 2009 so what better way to celebrate this than with a brand new event for Oxfordshire.

The 'Explore Oxfordshire Exhibition' will showcase the wealth of attractions we have here in Oxfordshire; it is the perfect chance to get your hands on all the new seasons' promotional material direct from the attractions themselves. This event is being held at the Barceló Oxford Hotel, Wolvercote OX2 8AL on Monday 23rd March 10.30am - 3pm.

With Easter in April this year it is the ideal opportunity to get your personal stock of literature for your businesses, to meet the people who own and run the attractions, to build new business relationships or even just catch up with old friends.

With over 30 exhibitors lined up it is the perfect opportunity to network with local businesses, stock up on literature and forge new relationships.

If you are a local resident what a great opportunity to see what is on offer on your own doorstep in just one visit! Come along and visit the stands to find out how you want to spend your days out in 2009. There is also a chance to win a 'Day Out' at your chosen attraction.

Let's start British Tourism Week with a bang this year and make this inaugural event the perfect beginning to the 2009 Season!
